Fashionable Wedding.

There is an old proverb, to the effect that "happy is the bride the sun shines on," and, like most ancient saws, it has enough of truth, or rather superstition attached, to make the heart of the expectant fair one heavy or light as she leans out of the casement on her bridal morning and observes the condition of the weather. Yesterday was one of those sunny days that were made for weddings-

"Sweet day, so cool, so calm, so bright, The bridal of the earth and sky."

The bard of Avon, who writes the best on all things, alludes to this, and of the happy man going to be married, when he says:

As these dulcet sounds, at break of day, That creep into the dreaming bridegroom's ear, And summon him to marriage.

The nuptials of Miss Kate M. Withers, daughter of the Virgicia U. S. Senator, and Mr. Woodville Smith, of Lynchburg, was celebrated last night at St. Paul's Church.

The affair had long been a subject of talk among the fairest of our grande dames par de Is monde, and long before the hour fixed for the ceremony the church was crowded from gallery to floor with the clite and beau monde of the city. A space only was reserved in the front portion, near the chancel, for the friends and relations of the contracting parties. Outside a large crowd gathered, and if the same eagerness were displayed to get in the holy ediher on Sundays as was last night, then wickedness would be at a heavy discount, and ministers would be happy; but revenir a nos moutons.

At eight o'clock the sweetly suggestive strains of Meudelsohu's Grand March filled the church, and every eye was turned to the door. The eight ushers formed a line on either side the aisle. They were Messrs. A. Bryan, L. Stabler, C. W. Ashby, A. E. Slaymaker, A. Howison, F. Prestman and F. F. Marbury, of this city. In a few moments the bridal correge entered. The arrangement and details of the ceremony were beautifully carried out. The train and attendants were preceded by little Jeannie larter, escorted by Master John Goggin, of Lyachburg, a bridal pair themselves in minature, who carried the bride's bouquet, and admirably set off, by their juvenility, the blooming maidenhood that swept behind them. The bridal party consisted of the bride, Miss Kate M. Withers, leaning on her father's arm, and dressed in crepe merette and satin, heavily trimmed with white silk fringe, wax orange blossoms and jewelry; the groom, Mr. Woodville Smith, escorting Mrs. Withers. Waiters: Miss Ellie Withers, sister of the bride, white tarleton and satin, trimmed with lilies of the valley and lace; Miss Mary French, Alexandria, net and satin, elaborately trimmed with flowers; Miss Bessie Falls, Alexandria, tarleton and satin, with byacinth flower trimmings; Miss Nellie Holt, Lynchburg, tarleton passed. and satin; Miss Lizzie Cator, Baltimore, net over silk, flower trimmings; Miss Nannie Blackford, Lynchburg, tarteton and flowers; Miss Katie French, Alexandria, net and satia; Miss Carrie Paulding, Washington, tarleton and silk; Miss Willie Withers, silk grenadine, tulle and lace. Groomsmen: Gen. Holmes Smith and Charlie Heal, of Lynchburg; Mr. J. Tought, of Baltimore; James Booker, jr., of Lynchburg; E.F. Witmer, jr., of Alexandria; Arthur Gregory, of Alexandria, and Walter Biggers, Samuel

The attendants advanced up the side aisles, and the bride, the groom, and the parents of the former up the middle aisle, all meeting at the chancel rail and forming there a most beautitul tableaux. Then amid breathless silence the Rev. Dr. Norton performed the impressive ceremony of the Episcopal Church that made the twain one. The responses of the bride were remarkably clear and articulate, and were distinctly audible throughout the church.

Smith, and Ridgway Holt, of Lynchburg.

After the marriage the party returned to the residence of Senator Withers, where, with a tew idvited guests, the evening passed pleasantly by. Among those present were Representatives Goode, Douglas and Cabell.

At 2a, m. the happy couple took the train en route South on a bridal tour. We tender to them, whose journey through life commences so auspiciously, our heartiest congratulations, and we hope that-

Perpetual harmony their home attend, And Venus still the well match'd pair befriend. May she when time is snok in years, Love her old man and cherish his white hairs Nor he perceive her charms thro' age decay,

TEMERANCE is attracting much attention, showing itself in local option laws, societies, crusades and restrictions upon liquor production; but with all these efforts, the consumption is enormous, and, undoubtedly, the reason is because there is nothing strenuously advocated to relieve and destroy the craving for stimulants. But, if the disease was treated rationally, by arousing the topid Liver with Sommons Liver Regulator, the dispirited druckard would find his cravings soon dissipated, and with cleared head and active Liver, he would not want liquor.
